

Act 2 Scene 7

From Holyhead to Stafford is the northern section of the line

*The engine is a Problem class, the Watt' 229
She was put together in the locomotive works at Crewe
When the pressure's really on, wonder how she'll do*

*From Stafford to London Town another engine is to run McConnell's big red Bloomer of four and thirty ton
Built by the men of Wolverton...*

The words and music of the Trent Dispatches sequence were the work of Rib Davis, Paul Clark and Jeremy Cunningham, with assistance in the arrangements by Rod Hall.
