

ACT 1 Scene 3

STANIFORD ENTERS EXCITEDLY BRANDISHING A REPORT.

STANIFORD: Great news! The Abercrombie Plan has picked out Bletchley as one of the first places to be developed under the Greater London dispersal plan. It says that Bletchley will be a town of 60,000 within 10 years of the end of the war! There's no expansion recommended for Wolverton, Stony Stratford or Newport Pagnell - and Leighton Buzzard is not even mentioned! This is it!

COUNCILLOR 1 : That 55 acres of land we've bought to house our people won't be enough.

DIMMOCK: If the Government want Bletchley to become a big satellite town, then the Government will have to foot the bill.
